Wren Capital LLP - Privacy Policy

This policy sets out how Wren Capital LLP or other entities it controls (together “Wren”) use and protect an individual’s personal data, including data from its website.

1. Application

Wren is the Data Controller for personal data about employees, investees, potential investors, newsletter subscribers or when sending marketing material which you may reasonably expect to receive or have consented to receive.

Wren may collect different types of personal data about these parties to:

- provide the information and services which these parties have consented or may reasonably expect to receive
- market Wren’s products and services
- process recruitment records

Wren may also collect anonymised website statistics using cookies, so that Wren can improve its website.

2. Individual’s rights

As an individual whose personal data is processed by Wren, you have the following rights:

- the right to be informed (which is the purpose of this Privacy Policy)
- the right to access the data Wren holds about you
- the right to object to direct marketing (by contacting Wren at the address below, or via email)
- the right to object to processing carried out on the basis of legitimate interests (to provide the information or service that you might reasonably expect or in accordance with a contract)
- the right to erasure of data (unless Wren has a legal obligation to retain it)
- the right to have your data restricted or blocked from processing
- the right to have inaccurate personal data rectified, or completed if it is incomplete.

An individual can make a request for rectification in writing by post to Wren’s Data Protection Officer (DPO), Rajat Malhotra at Wren Capital LLP, c/o Crowe LLP, St. Bride’s House, 10 Salisbury Square, London EC4Y 8EH. Wren will respond to any such request within one calendar month. Wren will confirm to you that inaccurate personal data has been rectified or completed if it is inaccurate.

3. Contacting you

If it holds your personal data you may receive telephone calls or emails from Wren if you’ve asked to be contacted, or if it considers there is a legitimate interest in doing so, to provide information or services that you might reasonably expect or in accordance with a contract. You have the ability to opt-out of being contacted by Wren at any point.

Wren may also engage in business to business marketing activity.

4. Security of your data

Wren will store your data securely and take reasonable steps to protect user data and privacy.

Wren contractors will only ever process your data on its behalf and under appropriate instructions from it.

5. Changes to this policy

Wren will publish any changes to this policy in this document. Where the changes are significant, Wren, it may also use email to provide relevant persons details of the changes.

6. Use of cookies

Wren may collect anonymised website statistics using cookies. A cookie is a small file of letters and numbers which websites may send to a computer to make a user's experience of a website better.

Wren may use cookies to:

- collect anonymised data about the number of visitors to pages, so it can improve the website and ensure that content is easy to find and engaging.
- to remember your preferences, for text sizes, for example. Again, this information is processed anonymously.

For information on controlling cookies visit <http://www.aboutcookies.org>

7. Sharing your information

Wren will not sell, trade or rent your personal information.

Wren will only otherwise share anonymised data with third parties except where it considers there is a legitimate interest or it has a relevant legal obligation or to comply with a governmental or police request, in which case it may share specific data including an individual's name and contact details.

9. Contacting Wren about data

Wren's Data Protection Officer ("DPO") is Rajat Malhotra, to whom any queries regarding Wren's use or processing of data should be addressed, but writing to him at: Wren Capital LLP, c/o Crowe LLP, 2nd floor, 55 Ludgate Hill, London EC4M 7JW.

10. Your right to complain

If you are not satisfied with the way that Wren handles your data, you have the right to complain to the Information Commissioner's Office at Wycliffe House, Water Lane, Wilmslow, Cheshire, SK9 5AF.
